Handwritten message

To whoever is reading this message, I hope it finds you well. The journey that you will soon embark on will not be an easy one, but it will certainly be the most beautiful one. I would simply like to affirm to you that you are worthy, and you can do anything! Live without fear, but rather with love, and when the going gets tough, just remember, "To live life, you need problems. If you get everything you want the moment you want it, then what's the point of living?"
- Jake the Dog - Adventure Time

I wish you the best!

In your own words

Which words describe your personality and character?

Laid-back and thoughtful!

Which sports do you like to participate in?

Surfing and snowboarding, mostly. I enjoy martial arts, as well.

Which sports did you play as a child?

I played baseball and basketball when I was very young. In middle school and high school I played football and lacrosse.

Which sports do you enjoy watching?

I mostly enjoy watching surfing, whether it be big wave competitions, the Pipeline Pro, or a relaxed longboarding competition. MMA is also interesting to me. In my eyes, it's like two people playing chess with their bodies.

Do you play any musical instruments?

I played guitar when I was younger, but not so much anymore.

What is your most memorable childhood experience?

My most memorable childhood experience would be when I was in Cancun. The house that my family rented was ocean front; the sand was literally right up against the back porch, and the ocean was steps away. My uncle, brother, and I set out along the beach to see what was at the end of the small peninsula about a half mile away. We explored the peninsula, and suddenly the sun began to disappear behind very aggressive rain clouds. They were moving quickly, and we decided to attempt to outrun the storm. We all legged it back towards the house. The clouds crept up on us, and soon enough we were running in a tropical storm. Eventually, we got so drenched that we gave up running and went back to walking, but we continued laughing the entire way back.

To which countries have you traveled?

In your own words

To which countries have you traveled?

Just Mexico and Canada, so far!

Describe one of your favorite vacations to another country:

When I was very young, my entire immediate and extended family went to Cancun, Mexico. As a young kid, I had such a great time exploring all these new things! I saw ancient ruins, underwater caverns, and barracuda when we went fishing. It was such a fantastic experience.

Describe a few of your strong sides:

I'm practical, resourceful, and I'm able to keep my cool (which I find to be very important while driving in traffic). I seek knowledge often, and can grasp an understanding of anything.

Describe a few of your weak sides:

Sometimes, I can be hard on myself. I have a high expectation for myself, and I oftentimes need to realize that I can't be everywhere at once. Also, I can sometimes appear to be sort of aloof. It's not an ego/pride thing, I'm usually just thinking about something else.

Personal characteristics

What is your native language?

English

What other languages do you speak?

None

Math Skills/Ability:

Not my favorite subject, but I do a decent job when I apply myself.

Mechanical Skills:

Quite good. I scored very well in this area on my ASVAB. I do my own work on my car and dirt bike, and I'm very keen on fixing everything myself.

Athletic Skills:

Above average. Athletic skill is very dependent on genetics, and I'm very lucky to be born with some good ones.

What is your favorite sport?

Surfing! It's so much more different than any other sport that I've done. To be able to ride on top of the product of storms hundreds of miles away is truly a different feeling.

What are your Hobbies/Interests/Talents:

Surfing, kickboxing, and snowboarding are my main hobbies. I'm interested in money management and property management (basically, what I do for work). I'm very interested in sustainable living. As far as talents, I feel that I can do anything. In my opinion, it's all a matter of mindset.

Describe your artistic ability:

As a kid, I would draw a lot, and I still draw occasionally. I'd say that my ability is above average.

Personal characteristics

Do you like animals? If so, which is your favorite?

I love animals. Dolphins are my favorite because they are just so intelligent. I'm always amazed when I see them out in the water with me. If not for the language barrier, we could have some cool conversations with them!

To where would you like to travel and why?

I would really love to go to Egypt and see the Great Pyramid! To see an engineering feat of that scale that was completed such a long time ago would be absolutely phenomenal. Also, I would really like to get an overland rig and spend a good amount of time just surfing and enjoying nature out in Baja.

How would you describe your personality?

I would describe myself as laid-back. If you ask my parents, they'll tell you the same thing. I've been that way for a very long time. At the same time, I enjoy having something to do. I like to keep myself busy, mainly with physical activities or education. I'm very resourceful, and I always try to make the most of what I'm given (especially with money). I'm very level-headed and thoughtful. If somebody needs help, I'm always ready to provide it.

What is your ultimate ambition or goal in life and how do you see yourself in twenty years?

My ultimate goal in life would be to have my own ranch with lots of animals and land. I'd love to have my own sustainable property in the woods where my wife and I can enjoy a fulfilling life together. In twenty years, I see myself there. I know that it is within my reach

Donor essay

Why do you want to be a donor?

Truthfully, I was motivated by the money at first. As I kept thinking about it, I realized that what I signed up for is so much bigger than what goes into my bank account. I started thinking about how I would feel in the recipients shoes, and it became clear that this is a huge deal. If I'm capable of helping somebody achieve that, why shouldn't I? My mother tells me that the best times of her life were had while raising me. She's rarely ever wrong, so it brings me great joy to know that I can help somebody experience the same beautiful journey.

Describe your relationship with your family. How has your family shaped your values and who you are today?

I have a great relationship with my family. Both my mother and father are very loving, and I'm very appreciative of them. Growing up, my parents both told me about the importance of withholding judgement. I believe that was a huge stepping stone in creating the compassion that I have today. I was also taught responsibility from a young age. I worked to buy my own phone, car, computer, and clothing. I learned very early on that if I want something, I need to go out and get it. At the time, it may have frustrated me, but my parents had the best intentions of building my character and they were (and still are) always there to help. Ultimately, this led me to become resourceful, compassionate, and responsible.

What makes you unique?

I believe what makes me most unique is my ability to do anything. My father is what I would consider to be "a jack of all trades", and I feel like it certainly rubbed off onto me. With access to the internet, I essentially have access to an unfathomable amount of knowledge. I enjoy gaining an understanding of a wide variety of subjects.

What are you most proud of and why?

Simply put, I'm most proud of where I am today. I often think to myself, "What would the 10 year old version of myself think of me right now?". As I sit on my board in the ocean, I'll occasionally notice a kid watching me. I used to be that kid, and I wanted to be that guy in the ocean. I'd say that little me would be extremely proud, and the me that I am now feels like he grew up to be exactly who he was meant to be.
